As for "The Story of My Life," written by Keller--if judged strictly by literary merit--although it was a phenomenal accomplishment by a deaf and blind woman--it is not a great piece of literature. Her composition is abundantly verbose, flowery and ostentatious, at times to the point of tedium. But it is certainly the work of a genius and holds the reader's interest because of the seeming

The beginning of my life was simple and much like every other little life. I came, I saw, I conquered, as the first baby in the family always does. There was the usual amount of discussion as to a name for me. The first baby in the family was not to be lightly named, every one was emphatic about that. My father suggested the name of Mildred Campbell, an ancestor whom he highly esteemed.
